Introduction to Reference and Information Services in Today's School Library:

Students come to the school library every day with questions ranging from "How many people live in China" to "I need to find out how the Sun began for my science paper." Helping students find the answers to their questions is one of the most important responsibilities school librarians have. In Introduction to Reference and Information Services in Today's School Library, the author provides a comprehensive overview of the field, covering the history of library services, the role of the school librarian, and the various types of reference and information services available to students.
